

SENATE GALLERIES APPLAUD ATTACK ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Started a Demonstration When Senator Reed Closed His Speech In Opposition—Senator Ashurst Was Loudly Hissed When He Appealed For Order—Guards Were Unable to Subdue Or Eject Those Responsible For the Disorder—Senate Adjourned Before Order Was Restored.

Washington, Sept. 22.—At the end of a four-hour attack on the league of nations by Senator Reed of Missouri, a Democrat who has referred to the league with the unwelcome appellation of "the league of thieves," of which the league covenant is a part, the senate swarming around Senator Reed, Senator Lodge finally was recognized above the tumult, which so rudely had shaken the dignity of the senate, and, leaning on his desk and smiling, addressed the chair:

"In order to return to that agree-

There has been no outburst like it since the treaty fight was put sharply before the senate by the foreign relations committee. But there were in-

Reed began his speech that the crowds swarming for admittance at all doors, were in sympathy with his argument. Mindful of the evidences of feeling in the galleries, Senator Cummins, presently took the stage warning that any applause might lead to the definite senate rules, at the end of the address. It would not be permitted at other sessions.

Vice President Marshall, however, a few days ago asked the senate if it wished enforcement of the rule against applause, saying that if that was the wish, it would be enforced. Treaties previous to 1800 had been considered in executive session, but that usage was not to be so far as the pending pact is concerned. The suggestion came from Marshall.

times. Threats to clear the galleries were made but had no effect, and no attempt was made to enforce the long-standing rule.

When Senator Reed with arms lifted high closed his speech and sat down the applause broke, followed instantly by lusty cheering from every gallery. The speaker was then escorted to the station and many women members, however, that it might be necessary to close the galleries if another demonstration like that today was attempted.

Senator Reed, whose speech occupied the whole treaty program during the day's proceedings, had been speaking nearly two hours when the first applause broke. His reply to the resolution was a question by Senator C. B. Smith, of Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, sitting nearest Senator Reed, and first to rise to him, shouted loudly for order a moment later, and the crowds not knowing what to expect, suddenly became still. But the quiet orderliness of the senate did not prevail long, for

As the spectators realized that their own actions were being condemned by the judge, the judge and the crowd of hissing women threw their chairs and benches at the fighters. The crowd while gallery guards struggled manfully but unsuccessfully to subdue and eject those responsible for it.

Still speaking to the crowd, Sena- tor Charles McNamara said that the fate of the world was at stake while they were attempting to make the senate of the

The Arizona senator declared the galleries would not applaud a decision of the higher court which had never been called upon to decide a question of such tremendous importance to the world.

The appeal was met with another volley of hissing, to which the Arizona senator replied that only snakes and geese hissed. Meanwhile the chair was pounding for order, and the crowds began piling out pell mell, while members on the floor were

On Board the U. S. S. George Washington, in the English Channel, Sept. 22.—(By The A. P.)—Speeding down the English Channel from Ostend at 35 miles an hour in the destroyer 1301, King George and Queen Mary, with 1,000 courtiers, the town prince and a number of nobles, were seen by the crous suite reached the George Washington at noon and came aboard. The ship was manned with sailors and a marine guard of honor was drawn up at the gangway, where Captain Armstrong, in a formal uniform, saluted the Belgian royal ensign as it was hoisted out at the masthead, the band played the Belgian national anthem, and the

The king and queen similarly received a warm and friendly greeting, having enjoyed the swift dash of forty-five miles on the destroyer. They were conducted to the quarters occupied by President Wilson when he was a guest on board, and where the queen, who is a devoted territory, had made a comfortable room for herself.

The queen's suite, pleasantly located, consists of three rooms, decorated in blue and gold. The king's quarters, adjacent to the queen's, are on the right side of the ship and includes an office with a complete radio telephone outfit in order that he may communicate

The George Washington will be accompanied for several days by the destroyers Maddox, Hale and Ingraham, as an escort, and will be picked up by a fleet escort sent from the American side.

MURRAH FOR THE TOILERS!
"TO HELL WITH THE KINGS!"

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 22.—"I stand for the man who works. To hell with the kings."

This quotation closes a letter to A. C. ...

... was passed over the heads of the crowds. The president shook hands with him and then patted him on the head before he handed him back to the nearest man.

TO REGULATE ZONES
IN OCCIDENTAL THRACE

Paris Sept. 22.—(Havas). The supreme council today considered the delimitation of the zones of occupation in Occidental Thrace, the Tempa salina seems to be agreed already. The new Greek troops which will occupy the zone along the Greek frontier of 1914, the new Bulgarian frontier and the Mediterranean.

Milwaukee in choosing a mayor do not require of him a forfeiture of self-respect. Did they not know that Prince Henry and Royalty before my election? * * * While I mean no disrespect to the Belgian people, whom I love, nor discourtesy to you, yet these are days that try men's souls. We

"I should go to my grave in everlasting shame were I to boost one iota the stock of any king. Mr. Van Scoy remind you associates that I stand for the man who works. To hell with the kings."

AGREEMENT REACHED WITH RAILWAY SHOP UNIONS

Washington, Sept. 22.—Representatives of the railway shop unions and of the railroad administration completed today a national working agreement which will govern all federal government railroads. It provides for Paris, Sunday, Sept. 22.—Monsieur Laroche, undersecretary of the interior in charge of having communicated military intelligence to the enemy and who was saved from the firing squad last Friday by an appeal to the undersecretary of state for military justice, was reported today to be in a very serious condition. He was said to have been shot in the back by a German soldier, and a bullet in his lower back.

first time a set of uniform rules and working conditions for the entire country.